

Axians

Providing today's communication solutions for tomorrow

AXIANS is the brand of VINCI Energies specialized in Information and Communication Technologies (ICT), which provides a wide range of solutions and services to meet the needs of companies in IT infrastructures and communications.

Axians offers comprehensive voice, data and image communication solutions, along with a broad array of services: consulting, design, integration, support, maintenance and managed services.

Global solutions for business communications

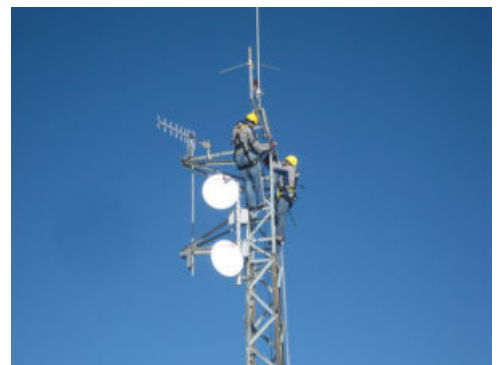

Axians is a global provider offering high performance solutions in the fields of mobility, security and storage.

The technological domain of the brand allows simultaneous transmission of voice over IP (Internet Protocol), data, as well as audio and video streams with complete security, over corporate and mobile networks.

Axians business units support their clients in each stage of their projects, allowing them to optimize their communication system, as well as increase their overall productivity benefiting from the latest technologies.

Axians network: A decentralized organization closer to its clients

Axians' extensive network covers 7 countries with 43 business units working in their local markets or jointly to respond to larger scale projects. This organization allows Axians to be a very present actor in local markets, but at the same time, to have the dimension and capacity of reaction to carry out projects of national and international deployment. Axians thus guarantees its customers the proximity, flexibility and speed of response needed to successfully complete their projects.
